Help Improve Community Safety Together

WHAT IS INVOLVED?

The George Institute for Global Health is conducting a study to better understand community attitudes toward safe speed interventions on local roads. In your community, Port Stephens implemented the 'Local Voices' competition, inviting residents to submit messages related to safe speed, displaying these messages, as well as conducting community education, such as a crash car display.

We now invite you to join a 90-minute focus group with other community members to share your views on these intervention activities and the acceptability and value of community-driven road safety initiatives in your LGA. Participation is voluntary. Upon completion, you will receive a $50 reimbursement for your time via a Prezzy e-gift voucher.
